XLIII "A. Corbella" International Summer School on Organic Synthesis

The XLIII edition of the "Attilio Corbella" International Summer School on Organic Synthesis (ISOS 2018)

will be held in Gargnano (BS) from 10th to 14th June 2018.

The School will start on Sunday evening (6.00 pm) and will end with the social dinner on Thursday night.

The "A. Corbella" School on Organic Synthesis has a long tradition, which dates back to 1976. Named after its cofounder Attilio Corbella, who died prematurely in 1978, the School is sponsored by the Division of Organic Chemistry of the Italian Chemical Society (SCI) and organized under the direction of the Department of Chemistry of the Università degli Studi di Milano, every year in June in Gargnano, a small village on Garda Lake.

Since its foundation, the School has been held in "Palazzo Feltrinelli", a XIX century villa overlooking the lake which belongs to the Università degli Studi di Milano and is equipped with teaching facilities for up to 150 participants.
