Welcome to the 49th National Congress of Physical Chemistry (XLIX CNCF, Turin 2023), promoted by the Physical Chemistry Division of the Società Chimica Italiana. The Conference, organized by the Physical Chemists of the University of Turin, will be hosted by the Department of Molecular Biotechnology and Health Sciences [2].

The aim of the conference is to show how the physical-chemical approach, based on a multi-scale view of matter, offers fundamental contributions, through experimental, theoretical and computer modeling methodologies, in fields ranging from astrochemistry, biochemistry, catalysis, soft-matter to materials science (to name but a few). The scientific program will be divided into six thematic sessions, introduced by plenary lectures by researchers who will demonstrate the synergy between experimental and theoretical methods in understanding the fundamental mechanisms of chemistry:

T1. Physical chemistry of materials

T2. Physical chemistry of soft matter and life science

T3. Physical Chemistry of energy production and storage

T4. Theoretical and computational chemistry

T5. Physical Chemistry approach to catalysis

T6. Reactive processes in gas, liquid and solid phases

Keynote, oral and poster contributions are welcome. Activities open to the public, dedicated to topics of general interest, will be offered during the conference.
